THE VIEW FROM ATLANTIC AVENUE

November 28, 2019 – The staff and Directors for the Maine Center for Coastal Fisheries wish you a Happy Thanksgiving with hopes that you have the chance to spend time with family and friends. This is an important time to remember all that we are thankful for. One thing which most of us that live, work and recreate on the coast of Maine have to be thankful for is this very special place. I, like many of you, have traveled to many other places and I'm always grateful to return here to Maine. The sense of community, as our residents work together, under sometimes trying conditions, to help one another is inspiring. The resilience of this place and its people are why we at MCCF are confident that together, we can sustain our fisheries and the seafood economy forever. It's not easy. The pathway to a successful future is as challenging as the one's we've already trodden. But trod on we must, and we will. By sharing our knowledge, applying science where we can, and inspiring collective responsibility we all can succeed in sustaining our coastal fishing communities. The goal is to manage our natural resources in a way that you, your children, and your grandchildren can continue to live and prosper in this remarkable place. We are thankful for your enthusiasm and support and we hope to get to know you even better in the coming year.

Do you have a question about our fisheries? Send it to info@coastalfisheries.org or call 367-2708. Learn more about MCCF by visiting us online at www.coastalfisheries.org.
